Art Unit: 3632

This is an office action for serial number 10/038,031.

Allowable Subject Matter

The indicated allowability of the claims is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Baker and Cramer. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Baker, Jr. et al. (Baker) 4,723,744 in view of Cramer 2,613,389. The applicant is reminded that the claims are only directed toward the subcombination of the support and not the combination of the support and camper. Baker discloses a support framework (10) with a camper support surface (52 and 54) and at least three support legs (30) for supporting a camper wherein the support framework is slid underneath the camper and the camper is then lowered onto the camper support surface (52 and 54) of the support framework (10) to support the weight of the camper (see column 4, lines 34ff). Baker discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the support wheels, a wheel lock, a plurality of support wheels being mounted to the support framework under a bias force relative to the support framework such that bias force between the support wheels and the support framework is sufficient to support the support framework when the support framework is not loaded, and the bias force is exceeded by a predetermined weight of a camper placed on the camper support surface of the support framework such that the predetermined weight of the camper is supported by the at least three support legs on a ground surface. Cramer teaches that it is known to have a support comprising a framework (1) having a support surface (10, 12, 11), at least three legs (2 and 3), a wheel lock (25), wheels (14), and the function of the bias force (20) between the wheels and the framework being sufficient to support the framework when the framework is not loaded, and the bias force is exceeded by a predetermined weight of a object placed on the support surface of the framework such that the weight is supported by the three legs on the ground. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have modified Baker to have included the wheels, wheel locks, and biasing force as taught by Cramer for the purpose of providing a better means of moving the framework underneath the camper. The combination of Baker in view of Cramer inherently teaches the method of claims 32-35 (see Baker, column 4, lines 34ff and Cramer, column 3, lines 10ff). Baker in view of Cramer disclose all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the bias force being a pneumatic bias force. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have a pneumatic bias force, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice since the applicant has not discloses how this element is critical to the invention. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The prior art discloses conventional means for supporting loads.
